

Sixth Form Dress Code

Like any place of work Atrium Studio Sixth Form has expectations of how members of its community should dress. This is not in order to suppress individuality but so that everybody understands what is acceptable and where the boundaries are located. The dress code is designed to enable all members of the community to work together in a safe environment free from embarrassment.

Sixth Form students should dress smartly and appropriately for a working day and set a good example to our younger students. We expect our students to use their common sense and judgment when choosing clothes for work at the college. The following guide serves to help make such choices.

When on work placement, students are expected to dress appropriately, check and follow the employers dress code and when necessary ensure the correct PPE rules are followed.

Appropriate for School	Not appropriate for School
Jeans should be smart, fitting and clean	Ripped, frayed jeans
Smart trousers	Camouflage / combat trousers. Track suit bottoms. No shorts unless taking part in PE / sport
Skirts should be knee length or just above	Very stretchy, short skirts
Smart T shirts / polo shirts	T shirts with large pictures / inappropriate slogans (nothing related to drugs, racist / sexist / homophobic sentiment).
Smart tailored shirts / blouses	Underwear should not be on show and should not cause embarrassment or offence (bra straps, cleavage, underpants). No bare midriffs
Smart shoes / smart, clean trainers	High heels or wedges. Flip flops
Leggings with a skirt worn over the top (see notes re skirts above)	Leggings without a skirt/dress. Open lace tights or stockings
